Check Stop program

Christmas crack-down underway

RCMP are in the midst of the holiday season Check Stop program.

Drayton Valley Cpl. Tom Turner said the program will be extensive and will run on a regular basis from Dec. 15 to Jan. 1.

"We will be compiling statistics from across the province on how many cars were checked and how many charges laid," he said.

On the municipal side, alcohol-related driving offences have skyrocketed. Compared to this time last year, the number of charges are up 44 per cent.

Rural charges have increased by 17 per cent.

Turner interpreted these statistics as partially relating to the fact that enforcement has also risen over the past year.

He added that it may also correspond to the slight upswing in the economy.

"When the money's a little looser, it seems so is the access to alcohol."

But Turner doesn't expect his detachment will be particularly over-worked during the Christmas Check Stop program.

"It appears to be a very conscious time of the year" because of the publicity against impaired driving, he said.

The Check Stops will run at various times and locations in town over the next two weeks.

Named '222' New ID formation effective Jan. 1

By Frank Ryan

Twenty-nine years of pushing for a new municipality took a giant step forward last Thursday with the official announcement of a new Improvement District.

The announcement was made by Drayton Valley MLA Shirley Cripps and Municipal Affairs Minister Dennis Anderson.

The new ID will be formed Jan. 1.

Improvement District 222 will be formed by establishing a core area consisting of selected portions of land from ID 14 and annexing certain areas of the County of Parkland and Leduc.

"This is an interim boundary. It allows us to take the first step towards municipal government," Anderson stated.

Copies of the core area can be obtained at the M.L.A.'s office in Drayton Valley.

'A positive result'

In making the announcement, Anderson said, "This is a positive result for those living in the new improvement district. It establishes a core area that guarantees stability now and in the future. After to Municipal Affairs can now plot a course that will prepare the new ID for an orderly and acceptable transition to municipal status by 1989."

Cripps added, "This announcement formally recognizes the establishment of the core area as a new improvement district. Once the implementation of the Alberta education study have been assessed, we will be able to look at further options regarding the final boundaries which will become the new municipal district. This action responds to long-standing concerns by local residents who feel they would be better served by the formation of a new municipality."

Bob Booth, chairman of Yes Group, Western Ratepayers, who was in attendance at a press conference last Thursday at the Westwood Motor Inn, said, "I'm very proud of this day."

Mayor Bob Mayhew told the Western Review he was glad the new district was finally announced, removing all the uncertainty of the past several years.

He added he hasn't studied the new boundaries closely, but feels that it may be a good idea to expand the western border to improve the assessment base.

Meanwhile, Moose Hill residents hope to vote later to be included in the new government.

Dale Jacob, president of the New Moose Hill Community Association, said he was "very surprised" the area wasn't placed within the ID's boundaries.

But he added that Anderson gave them a commitment last week to allow them to vote on entering the ID at a later date.

Impact on schools

County of Leduc Reeve Norm Bittner and Ron Pallotta, reeve with the County of Parkland directed several questions at Anderson and Cripps, in relation to the educational impact.

Votes in areas to be considered for future inclusion will be held as soon as residents have had a chance to consider the school and municipal studies designed to determine educational impact and options. Residents can be assured that voting school board's decision on page 21.

The Edmonton weather office is forecasting a chance for some snow for Christmas this year.

Tuesday should be mainly cloudy with highs near 1 C and lows of -11 C.

Wednesday's cold is forecast with mostly cloudy weather with highs of 4 C and lows around -14 C.

Thursday will be mostly cloudy with a 40 per cent possibility of rain. Highs of 3 and lows of -11 C are predicted.

Christmas Day should be mostly cloudy with a high of 6 C and a low of -10 C are forecast.

Local News Briefs

There have been several reports of stolen Christmas decorations this month. One homeowner near the H.W. Pickup school reported missing 10 lights from their house display.

Members of town council, the Community Centre Society and the curling club met last week to discuss plans for a new arena and the possibility of a new curling rink.

George Berguski, chairman of the society said, "I want to see the arena before I support anything."

Berguski hinted there may be some problems with the money they have collected, as many of the donors wanted it to go towards a community centre.

County of Parkland has turned down a request from the Drayton Valley District Chamber of Commerce for funding.

The request was denied due to the lack of county residents on the chamber executive.

The hunting season may be over, but wildlife officers are still making routine patrols.

Allen Gibson, who works out of the wildlife office in Evansburg says they have been busy working on a wolf program north of Chip Lake.

And, because of two or three complaints of night hunting in the Moon Lake area, patrols will be increased.

Television viewers in Drayton Valley saw Q/C TV drop two Spokane stations last week and replace them with Detroit channels.

Don't throw your Christmas arena away after Christmas.

Although nothing has been finalized, the Lions Club is tinkering with the idea of a Christmas tree burn on the site of the new arena.

The 1987-88 chamber executive includes six members who live in the county, including president Helen Deal.

Will interview architects today

Town begins arena construction process

By Frank Ryan

Town council will be today (Tuesday) interviewing architects for their new arena and multi-purpose building.

Councillor Jean Saunders, a member of the public information committee, says all eight architects will be interviewed. "We won't be looking at any plans," Saunders said.

After the architects have been interviewed, the town will seek out staff and community input and work on a model for the two structures.

The $15 million arena tender is scheduled to be advertised Jan. 29 followed by the $11 million multi-purpose administration tender on Feb. 5.

It is council's intention to award the arena tender Feb. 18 and the multi-purpose building tender on March 31.

Saunders says the occupancy date of the arena is

Jan Saunders

Oct. 1 of '88 followed by the multi-purpose building a month later. At their Dec 10 meeting council said they would consider financing of up to $800,000 for the multi-purpose building. The additional funds to convert the existing arena into a fire hall and facilities for the library, recreation and town offices will come from the sale of the library and town hall.

Saunders told The Western Review the town has offers on both the library and town hall. She also cleared up the matter of the $900,000 price tag mentioned earlier to renovate the arena. That would be the amount needed to bring the arena up to current building standards, if it was to remain as an arena.

The first year councillor also admitted that one of the biggest issues was the matter of the fire hall going into the north end of the multi-purpose building.

Saunders said a new fire hall was a priority item with council. They looked at building just a fire hall, but the costs ranged between $600,000 and $100,000.

She also said that while Fire Chief Sheldon Fusan has reservations concerning the location, it will be an improvement over the present fire hall.

In conjunction with the fire hall going into the north end of the proposed multi-purpose building, Saunders says council has been talking to MP Joe Clark about the possibility of re-locating the post office.

Earlier in the summer town council put both projects on hold until the issue of the new Improvement District was settled.

Asked about council's sudden interest to build both structures in '88, Saunders said having buyers for the library and town hall were in fluctuating figures. And, it was felt that if the projects were to proceed, now was the time to make plans.

Town office closed Dec. 24

Local businesses establish Christmas hours

Banks in Drayton Valley have set their holiday hours. The Bank of Montreal, Nova Scotia, Toronto Dominion, Royal and the Treasury Branch will be open on Thursday, Dec. 24 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. They will also be open on Friday, Dec. 25, 26, 27, Monday the 28th and Jan. 1.

The Drayton Valley Credit Union will be open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Dec. 24 and will close Dec. 25-28-29-30 and Jan. 1. They will be open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Dec. 31.

Make sure to get your business with the town done this week as their office will be closed from Dec. 24 through the 27th.

Park Valley pool will have a leisure swim on Dec. 24 from 1 to 4 p.m. and will be closed Dec. 25 and 26. They will open Sunday with leisure swimming from 2 to 5 p.m. On Dec. 31 they will start open at 10 p.m., close Jan. 1 and re-open Saturday, Jan. 2 from 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The municipal library closes at 5 p.m. on Dec. 24 and will also be closed Christmas and Boxing Day.

The liquor store will remain open till 9 p.m. on Christmas Eve. They will be closed Dec. 25-28-29 and 30. On Dec. 31 they will start open at 10 p.m., close Jan. 1 and re-open Saturday, Jan. 2 from 10:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The Western Review of fire will be closed Dec. 24 and will re-open Monday, Dec. 28.

Our final edition of the year, entitled A Year in The Life of Drayton Valley will be published Jan. 29.

Final boundaries after vote

attendance area will remain unchanged by the formation of the new ID.

Anderson said it's his department's intention to form a municipal district in October of '89.

"We can possibly do it before that. But that is the latest target date," he added.

The minister said the final boundaries couldn't be set until after the school vote, expected to take place in the next three months. "The next step is up to the residents involved," Anderson said.

Anderson also stated the school study had gone further than the municipal affairs study. "We didn't expect them to go that far," he explained.

The core area, which covers approximately 1,000 square miles, only includes four per cent from ID 14. Archie Grover, municipal affairs deputy minister called it a drop in the bucket.

222, a name suggested by MLA Cripps, will likely be housed in County of Parkland offices in Drayton Valley.

Improvement District Municipal Affairs Minister Dennis Anderson

Under an ID Anderson becomes the reeve, and it's expected an advisory board will be named shortly.

The name mentioned at the press conference as a possible member of the advisory board was County of Parkland Deputy Reeve Henry Rouds. When questioned about possibilities Cripps said, "I'm not saying a word."

Commenting on the name ID 222 Grover said it had no special significance. "It's not related to the headliner pill," he added.

He did admit though, that in its present state, the new ID was one of the smallest in the province. The addition of ID 222 increased the total number of improvement districts in the province to 22.

A question was asked about taxes, and Anderson said they would be roughly the same. "I don't expect they'll be any higher," Grover added.

Christmas delicias

Local stores stocking up

By Stacey Orlenky
Christmas is coming and the turkey or ham is ready to cook.

But what vegetables and fruit will be served with the meal?

Everyone has a special meal they cook for Christmas. Block's Food Store and IGA are trying to meet those special requests.

Peaches, nectarines, plums and cherries are on the shelves from South America along with strawberries from New Zealand. All the ingredients for a fabulous fruit salad can be found at the two Drayton Valley markets.

For that munching while watching television specials, or cooking that special dish there is a good variety of nuts, such as pecans, walnuts, filberts, almonds and brazil.

For the fancy vegetables, besides the regular lettuce and salad makings, there's hot house tomatoes, peppers (red, yellow, green and purple) and there is your broccoli and cauliflower for the Christmas dip.

The Christmas meal

wouldn't be complete without cranberry sauce.

And, don't forget to get a supply of holly and mistletoe. "We try to stock anything that people want for Christmas that is available," said Anne Reich at IGA.

Oh, we almost forgot — a case or two of Japanese oranges.

The stores hope to have everything for your baking and eating pleasure.

Intrigued by story

Letters

Dear Editor,

I am intrigued!

I would love to hear the full story about the Edmonton hunters who were caught red-handed on a hunting violation in Moen Lake!

If, as stated, the Outdoor Observer line was used to call in an infraction, then that line is supposedly anonymous — is, one does not have to reveal one's identity. Why then, were the hunters even allowed to see the land owner? He may not even have been the caller!

If they were in violation of the law, if they were caught red-handed, then they should have been indicted — no ifs, buts or maybes! Otherwise the Outdoor Observer line is a total waste of time, the Fish and Wildlife officers are going to become even more frustrated than they

It also makes me wonder if — by calling the 800-line — the general public puts itself at risk. Are they going to be victimized by hunters who are caught 'red handed'? Was that why the landowner refused to prosecute?

If so, it is time that a very serious look is taken at hunting regulations and firearms and those who are allowed to bear them!

Yours truly,
Joan Elmont, Alder Flats

Pedestrian injured in mishap

A pedestrian broke his leg and sustained minor head injuries last Thursday when he ran into the path of a vehicle.

The victim was hit by the vehicle after he ran out from in front of a semi-trailer parked on 30 Avenue across from Slovic Restaurant.

RCMP Const. Greg Feder said the injured man, Doug Koutrub, 32, was a passenger in the semi-trailer.

He added the driver attempted to warn Koutrub of the approaching vehicle by blowing his air horn.

Buck Lake fishing

The commercial fishing season will go ahead as scheduled next month on or of 63,600 kg of white fish.

The one-day season on Buck Lake is set for Jan. 5.

However, commercial fishermen who use Pigeon Lake weren't so fortunate.

Unseasonably warm weather cancelled the Dec. 14 to 17 season at Pigeon Lake.

As a result, commercial fishing licence holders will have to wait until Jan. 11-22 to pull out the December limit of 63,600 kg of white fish.

Last year, 400 fishermen using 800 nets pulled out the December limit in just three days.

A wildlife officer in Wetaskiwin said the Pigeon Lake closure was to prevent fishermen from plunging through thin ice and drowning.

1981 three-ton

Truck destroyed by fire

Last Chance Trucking lost one of their trucks to a fire last Thursday morning.

A 1981 GMC, three-ton truck had been started to warm up and caught fire soon after.

The fire was reported at 7:57 a.m. The Drayton Valley fire department took 30 minutes to extinguish the burning truck.

"There was not enough of the truck left for us to tell what went wrong," said Fire Chief Sheldon Fusan.

The fire is still under investigation.

Winter Olympics

Grade 9 student honorary runner in torch relay

I.W. Pickup student Clark Gray

By Steve Fletcher

A publicity shy I.W. Pickup student will be escorting the Olympic flame on the last leg of its journey to Calgary.

Clark Gray, 14, was selected to run as an honorary escort runner on Feb. 10, three days before the Winter Olympics holds its opening ceremonies in Calgary.

"I was just normal. I didn't jump," says Gray when asked his reaction to the news.

His mother, Laurel, agreed, saying her son was "rather blasé about the whole thing. We like and husband Wilf were more excited than he was."

Honorary runners are all members of families of PetroCanada and OCO '88 employees, giving them an opportunity to participate in the Share the Flame program (WJL is a safety coordinator at PetroCan's Brassau plant).

Families of PetroCan (the sponsor) and OCO Olympic Organizing Committees were not eligible to apply for those positions.

"We were actually disappointed when we found out we couldn't run like a torch bearer," said Laurel.

Gray will be running with two other escorts in maximum of three can run at any one time somewhere between Wainess and Wetaskiwin, but won't know for sure until next month.

Although learning of his selection in October, Gray was apprehensive about letting others know. In fact, he hasn't told his friends at school yet and is worried about what kind of reaction he may receive.

Active in bantam hockey, badminton, and in trampol sports, Gray said he's looking forward to the experience of participating in the Olympic run.

With his selection, at least two Drayton Valley residents will be sharing the flame. Adriana Moman found out in June that she will be carrying the torch on Feb. 12.

Frank Maddock workshop

Mental health therapist distressed by suicide rate

By Steve Fletcher

Drayton Valley's mental health therapist says he's becoming increasingly troubled by the rate at which suicides and suicide attempts are occurring in the area.

"I'm very distressed by what is happening in this community," said Kelly Frederickson.

He added that he would reverse an earlier statement he made to The Western Review about the uniqueness of the problem.

"I said at the time that Drayton Valley is no different than any other community...I had been asked that question two days later I would have said 'Yes, it is very different than a lot of other communities.'"

Frederickson was speaking at a suicide awareness and prevention workshop last week at the Frank Maddock high school theatre.

Maddock counsellor Jim Wolff and public health nurse Diane Wikforss also spoke at the workshop - spurred by a local suicide rate 10 times the provincial average.

Wolff speculated that the high number of suicides corresponds to the transient nature of the community.

"People are very isolated in this community," he said. "They tend to not make a great number of personal contacts."

"They often feel it's only a temporary stay, so why make contacts?"

Wolff said the young age of the community has also hindered development of a feeling of belonging in the community and the all important extended family is almost non-existent because of this.

"Where are the Great Aunt Sara's of the past?...it used to be with anybody - anytime there was a domestic squabble or domestic dispute - that's where it ended up: at Great Aunt Sara's."

Frederickson said he doesn't know the reasons why people commit suicide, but added that one common denominator is "they didn't believe they had any other solution. They didn't see any alternatives."

He pointed out that thoughts of suicide are not uncommon, and used himself as an example.

"Before the workshop I called my mother because I wanted her to find the suicide note I wrote when I was 16 years old."

Frederickson said his mother was instrumental in saving him from taking his own life, saying she pushed him to talk and provided him with alternatives.

He noted most people on the road to suicide do exhibit warning signs and suggested that adolescents often at tempt to draw attention to the problem through "acting out behaviour."

Neckless driving, drugs and alcohol abuse are typical activities associated with this behaviour.

A second method, often more indicative of a problem, is the distressed adolescent or teenager will "withdraw even further."

"They will never let anything out, and basically no one ever sees their depression."

Teenagers showing these signs are "at the greatest risk (they're) usually the ones who complete the suicide," said Frederickson.

He stressed adults can set in the same way but potential suicide victims the potential victim and keep up a dialogue.

He added that one should avoid stating familiar clichés about silver linings.

In her presentation, Diane Wikforss said 1981 statistics indicated 25 teenagers a day committed suicide.

She added that acting out behaviour is beginning to appear at a younger age and it's vital to begin the preventive process early.

Frederickson said one should attempt to obtain professional help or to stay with

"It's important to give children feelings of self worth. We don't teach our children...that we're not always happy, that there are lows."

All three speakers agreed that professionals, including medical doctors and the RCMP, have been slow to acknowledge a suicide problem exists.

A workshop on suicide prevention is planned for professionals in Drayton Valley next month.

Pile Base Rangers split weekend series with Rocky

The Pile Base pee wee home series with Rocky weekend. Both teams recorded vic-series on foreign ice. On Sunday the Rangers travelled to Rocky where they posted a come-from-behind 8-7 win.

Jason Powell's goal with 4:34 left was the margin of victory.

The Rangers led 2-1 after the first and 5-4 after 40 minutes, but found themselves trailing 7-5 with nine minutes left.

James Jelinski led the Rangers with a pair of goals. Singles came off the sticks of Blake Kirkwood, Todd Macure, Shawn Harden, Bryson Kurek, Ken Hutchison and Powell.

On Saturday, the Rangers lost just their second game of the season by a 6-5 score.

The local club led 3-1 after the first period but fell behind for good in the second as they trailed the visitors 5-3 after 40 minutes.

Bryson Kurek notched a pair for the home side with Shelby Jorgensen, Kent McKechnie and Ken Hutchison also collecting singles.

Bryson Kurek, right, scores his second goal of the game in a 6-5 loss to Rocky.

Two losses

Devils complete year on similar note

By Frank Ryan
The Drayton Valley Devils dropped two home ice decisions last weekend.

On Saturday they blew a 3-0 lead and lost 11-6 to the Barhead Elks. Just 24 hours earlier, Harvey Allen's crew absorbed an 18-4 loss at the hands of the Hobbema Night Hawks.

The two defeats leaves Allen's team with a 4-13 win-loss record. They are idle new until the new year.

Sheldon Sullivan had three of the Devils' goals in the loss to Barhead. His first two goals at 1:58 and 9:16 gave the locals an early 2-0 lead. Chad Allen made it 3-0 at 12:58 before the Elks finally got on the scoreboard.

Jeff Thiel gave the Devils a 4-2 lead early in the second before Barhead scored four unanswered goals for the late Trenchuk's goal was the final one of the contest.

Miles Parker turned in a strong game for the Devils, setting up three goals.

Devils goaltender Ed Wood had a 'rough' night against his former team mates in the 18-4 rout. He was between the pipes for 16 of the goals. Derek Hruska who replaced him midway through the first, was forced to leave the game with an injury.

Russ Rogers scored six of the Hobbema goals and set up four others. Steve Jervis also had a productive night with three goals and three assists as the Night Hawks led period leads of 5-2 and 12-4.

Alan MacKenzie and Scott Kynoch scored for the Devils in the first period with Thiel and Parker finding the mark in the second.

ACE CHIEF Dave Mulligan of Rimbey, the league president, attended

Saturday's game. Three former Devils players were also in attendance. Kevin Hutchison and his new Red Deer College teammates are first in the Alberta College Athletic Conference while Troni Pankiewicz and Darren Federus, who are playing with the Grande Prairie North Stars, also see their team in first place in the Peace Cup hockey league. Two of the smallest crowds of the season took in the weekend games.

Norotte Oilers

Kipling nets three goals

By Frank Ryan
The Norotte Oilers earned a split in two weekend ban team hockey games on home ice.

Jason Kipling scored three times as the Oilers downed visiting Ponoka Moose Chiefs 10-5 on Sunday morning.

On Saturday the Oilers dropped a 10-5 decision to the Olds Chiefs.

The Oilers' power play was clicking in Sunday's win, with five of their 10 goals. They also added another shorthanded effort.

Chris Hutchinson added

a pair as Norotte held period leads of 3-1 and 5-4. Kevin Bergquist, Mark Hansen, Craig Warren, Jason Woods and Shane St. Louis added singles. Warren also collected four assists and Bergquist had three helpers.

The man advantage also produced four goals for the Moose Chiefs.

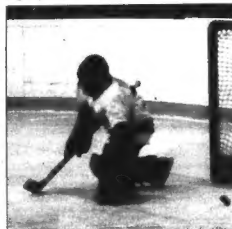

Cory Jackson, Shane Miller and Shane Peters all had two-goal efforts in the Olds Chiefs' 10-5 win Saturday afternoon. The visitors held 4-3 and 5-3 period leads.

Shane St. Louis had two of the Oilers' goals with Daylan Plasmueller, Jason Kipling and Craig Pinkoski notching singles.

The Oilers are idle until Dec. 28 when they travel to Barhead for a three-day tournament. The tourney winner will advance to the Alberta Winter Games next month at Red Deer.

Norotte qualified for a berth in the Dec. 28-30 tournament by whipping Westlock 13-1 in what was to be a two-game total goal series. But, after the lopsided opening game, the Oilers were awarded the series.

International hockey

By Frank Ryan
There's plenty of international hockey on the holiday menu.

The Viking Cup will be held Dec. 31 to Jan. 5 at Camrose.

The Czechoslovakian under-18 Selects, AIK from Stockholm, the University of Arizona Wildcats and the host Camrose Lehighers College Vikings are in one pool. The University of Alberta Golden Bears, Red Deer College Kings, Soviet Union under-18s and TPS from Turku, Finland are in the other pool.

Arizona and AIK will open the tournament Dec. 31 at 1 p.m. with Red Deer and TPS scheduled for 8 p.m. The Bears and Soviets play at 1 p.m. New Year's Day with the Czechoslovakians and Camrose scheduled to meet following the official opening ceremonies at 7 p.m.

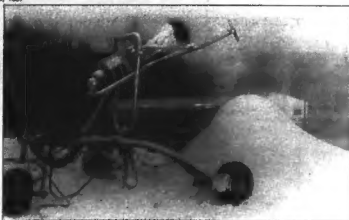

The top teams in each division will play for the gold and silver medals Jan. 5 at 6 p.m. The second place finishers will play for the bronze at 1 p.m.

Several exhibition games are also scheduled through the holidays.

The Czechoslovakians will play four Alberta Junior Hockey League teams. They will open at 7 p.m. against the Red Deer Hurricanes, play Dec. 28 at Olds, Dec. 29 against the Fort Saskatchewan Traders and Dec. 30 against the Hobbema Hawks at the Four Bands Arena.

The Soviets will play nine exhibition games including a Dec. 30 game against the Grande Prairie North Stars (Trent Pankewicz and Darren Fedoruk of Drayton Valley play with the North Stars), Jan. 8 at Northlake Agrion against the St. Albert Saints and Jan. 8 in Red Deer against the College Kings (Kevin Hutchingson of Drayton Valley is a member of the Kings).

The new snow-making machines were working overtime last week at the Drayton Valley ski hill. However, the club will need a helping hand from the weatherman to open the hill.

Beginning January

Pool to change schedule

Park Valley Pool is planning changes to its schedule beginning in January.

Facilities manager Charlene Jenkins says the changes will better accommodate pool users.

She added the new schedule has attempted to put into place requests made over the past year.

Major changes include new times for aquacene swim and the leisure swim.

The two will now be held on alternate days.

Aquacene-swim will run Mondays and Wednesdays between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. Leisure swim will take place

Tuesdays and Thursdays between 8 p.m. and 7 p.m.

And, with the addition of Sunday, the noon hour leisure swim has been expanded to run seven days a week.

Jenkins pointed out that, to accommodate parents, the supervised shallow area plunge will occur twice a day on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

During these times, lifeguards are available to supervise children while their parents exercise.

Jenkins said the synchronized swimming class will now be divided up to include both juniors and seniors classes.

She also noted a new program to develop competitive style swimming strokes — sponsored by Esso Swim Canada — will begin at the pool next year.

Registration for the program takes place Jan. 7 at 5 p.m. To enter, swimmers must be able to complete one length of reasonable front crawl.

Lifeguard Debbie Brighley has just qualified to instruct the course.

Anyone interested in a copy of the new schedule, which starts on Jan. 2, can pick one up at the pool reception desk.

Clayton Hines splits top saddle bronc money

Six-time Canadian saddle bronc and three-time Canadian all-around champion the Coleman of Lloydminster, Sask., pocketed more than $3,000 at the Canadian Western Agribition rodeo in Regina.

A score of 75 points on Calgary Exhibition and Stampede's Pawnee held up for a split of top money with Drayton Valley's Clayton Hines. Each cowboy collected $2,149 for their efforts. Coleman, one of only three all-around contenders at last year's Canadian Finals Rodeo, presently ranks first in the CPRA saddle bronc riding standings and fifth on the roping charts.

Mark Nugent of Water Valley edged out Blaine Pedersen for first place in the calf roping. Nugent won $1,924 for the victory when he recorded a 5.4 second run in Pedersen's 5.9. Eighteen-year-old Nugent is Canada's 1987 Rookie of the Year as well as the 1987 Canadian champion calf roper.

Turner Valley bareback rider Steve Dushan picked up $2,293 in his specialty event after spurring out a 7.9 on Vold's Crystal Gey.

The bull riding honors went to Manitowan Chuck Simanook. He topped Vold's After Burner for a spectacular 50-point ride and walked away with $2,872 — the biggest single event cheque of the rodeo.

Six-year pro George Lesak of Cochrane nabbed $1,857 in the steer-wrestling event as he stopped the clock at 4.4 seconds.

Harley Walter, a nine-year-old barrel racer from Lehighers, rounded the barrels in 13.81 seconds to claim the number one position and $1,876. Walter is the only repeat event winner from the 1986 Agribition Rodeo.

The overall winner of the wild horse race was Dale Ashbacher. Dale, brother

Duane and father Archie eased through the week with two firsts, two seconds and a fourth.

Next stop for the CPRA rodeo is Chinookas rodeo in Hobbema, Dec. 26/28.

AAHA concerned over increasing spinal injuries

A frightening statistic suggests that the increasing number of spinal cord injuries in North America has been increasing by 10 per cent in the last five years.

A few years ago, a man diagnosed to diminish the number of such injuries was placed into effect within all levels of amateur hockey. It was the checking from behind policy.

While it is possible many of the cases reported in this survey would have happened before the rule came into being, a study shows a lot of 95 per cent of such type of injuries are happening during organized hockey games. The survey compiled injury reports from the years 1975 through 1987 but a more in-depth study is presently underway by the Spinal Cord Injury Treatment Centre in Toronto.

The report shows that 50 per cent of the injuries were in Ontario and overall, 87 per cent of such impairment was to the neck area with 85 per cent involving the cervical cord.

In recent years, the number of such injuries has increased by 10 per cent. There is a well-known danger in hockey as a result of the checking from behind policy.

The checking from behind policy has been shown to be a major cause of spinal cord injuries. In fact, 34 per cent of them are either checked or pushed from behind. A total of four per cent of persons involved in such an incident died as a result of damage.

The AAHA says they are concerned with the continuing amount of injuries of this type, and are considering using "scare tactics" in an effort to get the message across. They do not say what this would involve, however.

The AAHA invites persons to provide feedback to their office regarding any steps which could be taken to decrease the occurrence of this type of injury.

The address is AAHA, No. 1, 7075-48 Ave. Red Deer AB, T4P 2K1. The phone number is 342-6777.

Superodeo events start earlier

Rodeo fans will be able to get home a little sooner due to earlier start times, when Northlands Superodeo rolls over Edmonton March 28-29.

In a move to let rodeo patrons from out of town get home a little sooner, the Superodeo committee at Northlands has decided to start the action one half hour earlier. Superodeo will begin at 7 p.m. nightly March 28-29. And there will be one matinee performance starting at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday March 28.

Superodeo, which moved to Northlands Arena, also features top professional rodeo competition from across Canada and the United States. It's 7 hours of fast paced entertainment. Tickets for Northlands Superodeo are on sale at Northlands. Tickets for a Friday are $14.50, and on Saturday $16.00. On Sunday, tickets are $12.00. For more information, call 342-6777.

Cripps defends gov't

More than 40 people at the 34th annual convention of the Alberta Farmers' Federation in Alberta last month at the Nisku Inn.

Alberta Associate Agriculture Minister Shirley Cripps outlined in a morning address the government's commitment to agriculture through programs such as farm credit stability, a new oilseed storage initiative and the recently formed agricultural research institute.

She mentioned cabinet is reviewing the recommendations of a report evaluating the Agriculture Development Corporation (ADC) and hopes to have all decisions made by March.

In response to a question Cripps defended the province's controversial $4 million grant to Carfax, saying their proposed High River beef facility is world class and will open new markets for Alberta beef. She said the Canada-U.S. free trade agreement is an important and alive making her optimistic and enthusiastic about the future.

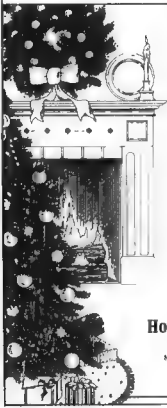

of agriculture. Federation delegates voted to urge the government to maintain AIC and declining production, rather than forcing its heavily leveraged producers over to the private sector. They also approved policy resolutions on recycling, landfilling and targeting subsidies more to farmers in need.

C.F.A. members re-elected John Vander Meulen, a Lacombe area hog farmer, for a fourth year as federation president. Andrew Worren, a grain oilseed and hog farmer from the Barrhead area, was re-elected for a second term as vice-president. Convention delegates also approved a 1988 federation operating budget of $103,520.

The convention concluded with a celebratory banquet featuring guest speaker Dr. Roy Neeshall originally from Trinidad and now pasturing in rural Alberta. Neeshall drew on his years of Caribbean experience in challenging conventional forces to broaden their horizons to make room for the struggles of Third World peoples.

Interdependence is a global concept, he maintained, and is the value to share with justice and stewardship, values around the world.

Don't Forget Our $2.50 Tuesdays!

Christmas wishes

Dear Santa:

As usual, I'm late with my Christmas list. But I hope you'll find time to get those gifts together before setting down in Drayton Valley.

For Joe MacLellan, more government money to assist the Females Educational Consortium into Rocky Mountain House and see a return of the registered nursing assistant program.

For the Drayton Valley & District Chamber of Commerce, a new tourist booth.

For Al Chatterman, the town's building inspector, $10 million in building permits.

For Lynn Hurrell, manager of the farmer's market, a well-deserving holiday.

For RCMP Cpl. T. Turner, a promotion.

For Linda Thompson, a clean bill of health.

For Dr. Lashanajee, 45 more trailer stalls.

For Bruce Chatterman, president of the curling club, $700,000 in build a new eight-sheet facility.

For Lorella Thomas, a 450 single. She rolled bowling a 435 last year.

For Dale Warren, a repeat trip to the provincials for the Norville Oilers.

For Don and Marie Zemulski, managers at Birchwood Village Greens, a good rest, before another golf season arrives.

For Dale Rendfleisch, president of the Drayton Valley Ski Club, 10 inches of the white stuff.

For the Drayton Valley Fire Department, a fire-free Christmas and New Year's holiday.

For George Bergquist, money for a community centre.

For Gail Beldner, $60,000 to top a bus for the residents of the Shuang Li Lodge. And, another successful bowl-a-thon in '88.

For Howard Vickers, pro at the Drayton Valley golf course, nine new holes.

For Adriana Monas and Chris Gray a chance to carry the Olympic torch.

For Dianne Osburne, a thank you card for all her work as our Evansburg/Entwistle correspondent.

For the County of Leduc, a road into the Willey West campground. Last Christmas we asked for a dying carpet but it wasn't enough.

For Harvey Allen, three more sons so he can see his own hockey team.

And, for Clayton Ulmer, another trip to the Canadian rodeo finals.

Sponsored by RNA

New Year's layette

The Drayton Valley Health Complex has just begun collecting gifts for 1988's New Year's baby.

Grace Erickson, coordinator of the program for the last several years, says some items have started to come in now.

A display of the entire gift ensemble will be set up at the hospital sometime before Christmas and New Year's Day.

The gifts to the New Year's baby is an event sponsored every year by the RNA's (registered nursing assistants).

Erickson said she began collecting gift donations from companies at the end of October.

Noon hour skating added to arena schedule

The Centennial Arena will be adding a noon hour public skate on Mondays beginning in the new year, says facilities manager.

She said that other than this change, the arena's schedule remains the same. Jenkins noted, however, that the women's skate for fun and fitness (Wednesday nights at 9:45 p.m.) is in danger of folding if more participants do not turn out.

Anyone interested in the women's skate should contact Jenkins at the town office (543-5267).

The arena will be holding a free skate on Dec. 23 from 11:15 to 3 p.m. Also, the pool will be holding a free swim Dec. 21.

Santa will be in attendance at both events.

Did you know... A kangaroo mother is usually nursing babies of different ages, so she has two kinds of milk. One nipple supplies full-strength milk for the brand-new baby, while another supplies a diluted solution for the older youngster.

Undecided Evergreen or DRYA

The Town of Drayton Valley is still in the dark as to which tourist association they will belong to. Councillor Jean Saunders and town manager Manny Dool attended a Tlaika meeting in Edmonton last Thursday.

'Nothing was decided,' Saunders told The Western Review.

Ken Albrecht, president of the Evergreen Tourist Association, told Tlaika they didn't want to lose Drayton Valley as a member. On the other hand, the Battle River tourist association said they hadn't approached Drayton Valley, but would gladly accept them.

Although no decision was made, the matter was referred to a boundary committee. No one knows who's on the boundary committee and when they will meet.

Meanwhile, the town has placed an ad in the Battle River brochure and the name will be included on Battle River maps.

Thus saith YAHWEH

"Learn not the way of the heathen, the customs of the people are vain." Jer 10:2,3
Christmas is rooted deeply in vain pagan worship, it is not Scriptural.
True worshippers worship in 'spirit and in truth'. They are to 'come out' and 'not touch the unclean thing.' Jin. 4:23, 2 Cor. 6:17

Extension needed for assessment...

The tornado that rocked the City of Edmonton is still being felt in Drayton Valley. Jim Richardson, regional assessment director, advised before town council last Thursday asking for a 60-day extension to complete their general assessment.

Richardson said all assessments were put on hold when their staff assisted with the tornado relief. Eleven centres were affected by the mid summer disaster. The delay may force the town to send the assessment in the same envelope as the tax notice.

Richardson also informed council that taxes on the new Sturd Wood mill are expected to total between $100,000 and $500,000. He is doubtful they could even be higher.

Two Rivers 4-H New hats

By Kevin Vig
Club reporter

The November meeting was held at the Schwab's residence.

The club has decided to get new hats with a club crest.

Books and supplies were handed to all members for the new year. Members all picked names for the Christmas party, which was held at the Elson's. It included a skating party followed by a potluck supper and the opening of gifts.

The Two Rivers 4-H Beef Club would like to thank all their buyers of the chocolate covered almonds.

Santa's Anonymous

Volunteers needed

Volunteers are needed today (Tuesday) and Wednesday preparing hampers for the less fortunate.

Santa's Anonymous will be busy putting more than 125 food and gift hampers together at the Legion Hall.

Anyone who can spare an hour or two to help, is asked to drop by the Legion.

If you know of a family that needs assistance, call Linda at 542-4806. Your name and any information you give will be kept confidential.

Your Opinion

Should there be stiffer penalties for drinking and driving?

I think penalties should be imposed on those selling the stiff. Bars of liquor should be limited in some way so as to control the place of sale.

Duane Kolt
Drayton Valley

Before a case is decided between the all the services should be taken away for those who are drinking. There are no many are doing endangering the lives of innocent people.

Jayce Epp
Drayton Valley

Definitely. They should have stronger penalties because there are so many people out there drinking and driving and there is no reason for it. Using your license should be for a year instead of six months.

Joan Spurrell
Drayton Valley

Yes. I do. They should not just get a fine for a first offence, but should get a jail sentence. They should be a jail sentence if they can't be a jail sentence.

Can big people drink more?...

Not quite right.

Body weight is a factor. The same amount of alcohol in a large person will be more diluted in the bloodstream than in a smaller person. But alcohol enters a fast in the blood.

Your BAC is the balance of two processes: the volume and rate at which you drink alcohol, and the rate at which the liver breaks it down in the blood.

It is important to remember that a 200-lb. beer is not more than a 100-lb. beer. The liver's capacity is about half a pint of pure alcohol.

The liver's capacity is about half a pint of pure alcohol. It is not more than a 100-lb. beer. The liver's capacity is about half a pint of pure alcohol.

Real stress, anger and fatigue may heighten a person's level of alcohol tolerance. But many crowded parties are more conducive to intoxication than intimate relaxed settings.

Food in the stomach slows down the rate of absorption. The more fat alcohol or substitutes in a drink, as water, pure sugar etc. the slower the absorption. However, carbonation increases the rate of absorption.

Beers of varying strengths the system. The liver works at a steady pace. So, the faster you drink the greater the risk of intoxication.

Busy weekend—RCMP

The RCMP are reporting a relatively busy weekend last week.

The police undertook several "check stops" during Saturday and Sunday morning. Two alcohol related driving charges and about five seatbelt violations.

Moreover, a Friday afternoon check stop resulted in 10 seatbelt charges being laid.

As in the weekend two vehicles were reported stolen.

RCMP continue to investigate both thefts.

Steve Stefura

Services for long-time resident

By Bernice Johnson
388-1863

Funeral services were held at the Alder Fair Legion Hall Nov. 21 for long-time resident Steve Stefura.

Pastor Don Hartsig officiated with Barbara Biever as organist and Lorraine Hartman as soloist. Interment followed in the Alder Fair Cemetery.

Steve died Nov. 18 at the age of 74 years. He is survived by his loving wife, Sophronia Vitor, and his wife, Margaret, of Leduc, four grandchildren and their spouses and five great-grandchildren. Burial was in the cemetery of Leduc.

Steve was predeceased by two great granddaughters and a sister, Mary Helen.

Steve and Sophronia celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary in 1985 with a memorable celebration and friends.

Alder Fair News

He married Sophronia March 22, 1937, and started married life on her brother's farm. They were blessed with their only son, Victor, in 1948.

They later purchased a quarter section of land and engaged in mixed farming until 1956 when Steve and Victor started a trucking business, working mainly in the oil patch.

In 1969 they moved the farm, keeping 10 acres in which they retired. Steve loved hunting, fishing and trapping. He was also well known for his delicious smoked meats, fish and sausage. He enjoyed woodwork and spent many hours making charcuterie, lamps and grandfather clocks.

Steve was a great collector of a legacy, one driving 11, he was a large apartment, which some of the residents in cars and dress, their in his, his, his.

Seniors' Christmas crafts sell out quickly

By Stacy Orvisky
Reinders. Santa Claus, pilgrims, and other Christmas crafts that were made by the senior citizens disappeared at their bazaar last week.

For the last few months seniors at the Shagwika Lodge were busy making crafts for their annual Christmas bazaar.

"People came who had no idea what the seniors do and where we are," said Mary Ayotte, coordinator at the lodge.

The seniors had eight tables of their crafts and decorations and they looked after the selling with the help of two volunteer helpers.

"Taking care of the selling themselves helped them to communicate with the community. It was good for all people for both the seniors and the town people," said Ayotte.

The seniors sold 80 per cent of their crafts. The proceeds will go to buying supplies.

materials, pay for special trips and other forms of entertainment.

Plans for the next few months is to start on next year's bazaar. "January and February are long and lonely months, the seniors need to do something so we keep them busy with group activities," stated Ayotte.

Safety patrol

Scott Caporale, 11, is St. Anthony's patroler of the month. "I always wanted to be one last year; it's cool!" said Caporale.

Libraries to protest funding cutbacks

Submitted by Penny Deth

A person usually associates the words "quiet, peaceful, silence and about" with a library, but lately there has been a rumbling heard among the bookshelves.

Library staff, board members and patrons are joining the Libraries Count campaign to protest cuts in public library funding in the province.

In the current year the operating grant from Alberta Culture was reduced by three per cent, and now word has been received of further potential cuts of eight to 10 per cent. This loss of funding could mean the closure of some libraries and a reduce tion of services in others.

In 1986 Alberta libraries were third across Canada in per capita funding. Recently Manitoba, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia increased their per capita library funding, so cuts in Alberta libraries will see them rank even lower. Government grants to libraries comprise only one-quarter of one per cent of the entire government's budget, so saving in these cuts to the government will be minimal.

Ask at your local library for more facts and write a letter of protest to your local M.L.A., ask them to take this message to the Alberta government. "That there be no further reductions in provincial grants and services to Alberta public libraries and library systems."

Libraries will see you through times of so many better than money will see you through times of no libraries.

Volunteers vital at local hospital

By Stacey Orlicky
The hostess, multi-time assistant, one-on-one companionship.

These are the jobs of a volunteer worker at the Drayton Valley hospital. Without the volunteers the hospital wouldn't run as smoothly as it does. There wouldn't be time to help put clothes away, no help with feeding the incapable residents and no one to talk to the lonely.

We have quality volunteers this year, there is no trouble with them. They are all doing extremely well," said Veronika (Roni) Anderson, volunteer manager at the hospital.

Most of the younger volunteers find it's harder work than they thought, but most enjoy it and stick to it for a very long time. "I had free time and decided to volunteer my time. I really enjoy what I'm doing," said 15-year-old Manja Jorgensen.

Jorgensen found out about volunteering through a friend. As a result, she has been helping out at the hospital for two years.

"I've learned a lot. The people are all different and I learn all about different places, about the past and about culture," said Jorgensen.

Jorgensen started as a tea hostess but now is a meal time assistant. She feeds those who have a hard time feeding themselves.

"The staff and the volunteers get along really well," said Anderson. "We've had no trouble between the two."

If you're interested in becoming a volunteer you can pick up an application at the hospital at the front office or you can pick one up at the volunteer booth.

County of Parkland

Parents choosing to educate children on the rise

By Rick Gosses
Surrey Green Reporter

The number of parents in the County of Parkland who are choosing to educate their children at home is on the increase.

Superintendent of Schools Mary Thachuk told local trustees at a recent education meeting he has some concerns about the trend but the courts appear to regard the option of home schooling as a right.

Three years ago, parents who favored that option appealed to the minister of education and the provision was made in Alberta's School Act to allow for home schooling.

Three students from the county system were educated at home the first year that provision was in place.

The number of students withdrawn from the school system doubled the following year and 30 students are being educated at home this year, Thachuk reported.

Some parents are capable of providing high quality instruction for their children, he acknowledged, but he's concerned there may be something lacking from that education nonetheless.

Social interaction and the development of social skills is an important aspect of a child's development, he pointed out.

The potential also exists for children who are being educated at home to be abused without anyone else becoming aware of the situation. When a child is regularly attending classes teachers generally get signals abuse may be taking place.

Tomahawk school safe

Residents of the Tomahawk area concerned about the future of their school can breathe a sigh of relief.

Mary Thachuk, superintendent of schools with the County of Parkland told an education board meeting last week that he signs a school in Tomahawk for several years.

Thachuk made the comment during a discussion on the formation of a new county.

Cecil Dawkins, a member of the board of education asked Tomahawk principal Thain Olsen where the students would prefer to go to school.

Olsen remarked, "There's overwhelming support to send the students to Drayton Valley."

The Tomahawk principal also told the board there was a lot of concern about the future of the school according to a recent education committee task force. The boundary would be one mile south of Tomahawk.

"That would totally kill Tomahawk," Olsen told the board.

Parents support Drayton Valley, not Seba Beach," Olsen added.

Thachuk was quick to point out he doesn't think any children now being educated at home are being abused, but he has certain anxieties about the potential for abuse.

He also worries that some parents may decide to keep their children out of school simply because they represent an inexpensive labor force.

There are provisions in the contract parents sign with the county when they begin home schooling that allow the school system to terminate the arrangement if administrators feel the children are not receiving an adequate education.

The problem is that, given the way the courts appear to be interpreting the School Act, Thachuk is not sure that the termination clause will stand up to legal scrutiny.

Trustee Rianne Kulak supported the County of Parkland send a letter to the minister of education pointing out some of the difficulties a jurisdiction could face as a result of the School Act's provisions.

For one thing, many students taught at home for part of their educational experience end up back in the school system during their high school years. The system is then forced to deal with the difficulties of adjustment, both academically and socially, those students may face.

Trustee Cecil Dawkins, however, sees the home schooling option as "a demonstration that parents do matter."

Parents who choose to educate their children at home are "looking ahead" at the establishment and "I think that's good for us," he said.

Thachuk indicated the majority of parents who are exercising the home schooling option are doing so for religious reasons. Some are unemployed or retired teachers who are quite capable of doing an "adequate," though not "superior" (to the school system's job of educating their children).

Christmas shoppers should keep Boxing Day in mind

When you do your Christmas shopping this year, don't forget Boxing Day and the days that follow it. That's when you and your loved ones will attempt to return the bunsy shoppers' exchange the Twisted Sister record and trade in the mini skirt.

Are you ready for Boxing Day? Read on.

1. Aunt Mistle thought the bunsy shoppers were cute. You feel they're a bit too cute.

You take the bunsies back to the store and ask for a refund. The store won't refund Aunt Mistle's money but it will exchange the shoppers in the store required by law to give you a refund.

No. As a matter of fact they do not even have to offer you an exchange unless it is store policy to do so.

Before you buy ask about the store's policy on returns. Each store decides the conditions under which it will accept returns. Some stores may put a time limit on when you can return goods. Some may offer exchanges, but no refunds. Keep your sales slips so you can prove where the goods were bought.

2. Cousin Ted gave you an electric hair warmer and you tried it out on the Christmas dinner bun. It didn't work. You take it back to the store and ask for a refund. The store offers to repair the appliance. Don't they have to give you a refund?

No. In most cases, a store's only obligation is to repair the item. If it cannot be repaired, the firm is obliged to replace it. Of course if you have purchased the item "as is" the store is not obliged to repair or replace the item.

3. What if the store in question 2 has a "satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded" policy?

In this case the store must refund your money.

4. You get a deposit on an absolutely smashing dress for New Year's Eve. You find one that is even more smashing in another store so you return to store one and ask for your deposit back. The sales clerk says, "Sorry, we don't return deposits. Can she do that?"

Yes, she can. When you place a deposit on an item, a contract is formed between you and the seller. The seller promises to hold the item for you and you promise to buy it. You give up the deposit if you decide not to buy because the store might have sold the dress to someone else while you were making up your mind. Always ask if a deposit is refundable. If the clerk says yes, ask for the promise to be written on your receipt.

Bretton news

Lodge birthday party

By Sheri Carson

It was decided at a recent lodge meeting the Bretton Elks and Ladies of the Royal Purple will not be holding a joint memorial service as they have in previous years, due to renovations at the community centre.

Further discussion took place regarding the 24th anniversary celebration of the Bretton Lodge to be held June 18.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of a 15 year service pin to Alice Morkeman.

The Bretton Lodge will take the travelling gavel to the Warburg Lodge Jan 4.

Bretton curling club handed a successful town and country bonspiel Nov. 29/30 with 28 rinks participating.

First event winner was the Ted Gryk rink playing short-handed in the final game. The foursome consisting of George Trym and Bruce White took defeat the Elmer Ellis rink in final play. Second event went to the Reg Carson rink and third event was won by the Perry Nelson team.

The curling club would like to thank the sponsors and the participants. It was gratifying to see new faces out on the ice and hope to see you all during the regular season which started Nov. 30.

Following are the winners of the card party held Nov. 25 at the Funnel Centre: Ladies: Hugh & Lila Kugyella; Ladies: Lou Margaret Pennerman; men: Hugh Louisa Jackson; men: Ray Ellis; traveling prize: Steve Kugyella; door prize: Neulath Durb.

Congratulations to Elmer Austin who has received a scholarship award for her training in a commercial cooking technology course at NAIT. There were 216 students eligible for scholarships and Austin will receive one of the 39 scholarships awarded to the top 30 students.

City of Leduc

Annexation called 'greed'

The city of Leduc motive for annexation isn't need, it's greed, and Leduc County resident and Warburg Pembina Surface Rights Group president Kar Zajas is presenting his direct testimony at a recent Local Authorities Board hearing.

The most important issue is greed. The city has not demonstrated any need for annexation - it is simple greed," he said.

During his testimony Zajas also produced a study analyzing the pattern of business in Leduc and noted several firms relied on business from outside city limits for their clientele.

Zajas called on two people from Frank Plaxman Sales who said some 80 per cent of their business comes from across the province.

We sell agricultural equipment along with home and office supplies. We sold $4.8 million last year. We sold about 20 per cent of our merchandise to people in Leduc and area and about 80 per cent around the rest of the province," said manager.

Berry presented.

"I've had customers say if we didn't help nullify this annexation they'd boycott businesses in Leduc and already starting until this is finished he added.

Zajas survey represents 80 businesses out of about 400 in Leduc; city lawyer Francis Saville established a cross examination.

This shows a cross section, argued Zajas.

Saville noted both the county and city studies showed 15 per cent of local businesses come from county residents.

An Evergreen student plays the guitar.

Evergreen school performs concert

Music filled the air of the gymnasium last week at Evergreen school.

The school children presented their Christmas concert to staff, students and parents last Tuesday.

The concert started out with the singing of the national anthem. The A team performed the school song and then a song called Grandpa. Their final song was a Christmas tune Christmas Bells.

The B team presented Alleluia on instruments, and did a splendid performance singing and playing the instruments to White Christmas and Mary's Boy Child.

Silent Night in both chorus and sign language was performed by the A team. They also did an instrumental tune Rondo in F.

The only Fresh song was presented by the B team, 'Le Gault Pere Noel' a beautiful melody.

The B's also performed two instrumental songs 'Old Peace in Metallophones' and a Christmas tune Ring Christmas Bells.

The choir class was the second last class in the Christmas concert. Five Musira glory Ariella Winoweb and a old Christmas favorite, Winter Wonderland were sung.

The Little Rockers were the final performance, doing two snappy tunes to finish the day. 'Saddler Ranch and Gumbo' 'Good Lovin' ended the presentation to the applause of the audience.

After performing the Christmas concert the classes presented their concert to the residents at the Drayton Valley hospital.

New officer to join detachment

RCPMP are stationing a new recruit in Drayton Valley beginning in January.

Cpl. Tim Vatanianuk says the recruit, Cst. Laura Routledge, will be graduating from the Regina training Depot Dec. 22 and should be in town several weeks later.

Routledge, a native of Winnipeg, will replace Cst. Jeff Smith, who leaves town after seven years to assume new duties with the Taber highway patrol.

The new member will be the first female officer in Drayton Valley in three years, Vatanianuk said.

The transfer is one of several staff changes at the detachment.

Next spring, Sgt. Jim Humphrey, currently attached to the criminal investigations division in Calgary, will become the detachment's commander.

Humphrey replaces Staff Sgt. Les MacIntyre who was transferred to Monroville last August.

Meanwhile, Const. Al Kaufmann has returned to active duty.

Kaufmann was sidelined for about eight months suffering from back ailments. He underwent surgery for the problem in September.

Vatanianuk said he is hopeful that Kaufmann's status will be updated this week.

Holiday turkey

Food poisoning not fun

Food poisoning isn't fun! Picture this: While entertaining guests the chicken quiche sits on the counter too long. The next day the quiche was reheated. Later that day the family became ill. Why?

The answer probably lies in the fact the chicken quiche was forgotten. It sat in an environment that was neither hot (above 60 C) nor cold (below 4 C).

This is an important concept to remember during the Christmas season when you're busy entertaining. Therefore food safety must be stressed.

Thawing the turkey always takes some time. There are three basic methods. For each leave the turkey frozen in its original plastic wrapper. Once thawed, keep the turkey refrigerated and cook within 48 hours. The methods include:

Refrigerator method
Place turkey on a tray in the refrigerator. Allow 10 hours (5 hours) if the refrigerator is the ideal place for thawing, because it keeps the meat cold until it is completely defrosted.

Cold water method
Cover with cold water and change water occasionally. Allow 2 hours (1 hour) if the turkey is small.

Boiling water method
Place turkey in a heavy brown paper bag closed tightly or in covered cooler or wrap well in a thick layer of newspaper or towels. Thaw at room temperature allowing 3 hours (1 hour) if the turkey is small. The closed bag or other insulating material allows the turkey to thaw completely while keeping the outside temperature low enough for food safety.

Treatment of turkey and stuffing must also be given careful consideration. Never stuff a turkey the day before. Stuff the turkey just before roasting. If desired, the ingredients may be prepared the day before and combined just before the turkey is to be stuffed. Left-over stuffing should be used within three days. Cooked stuffing may be frozen up to four weeks. Heat without thawing or thaw in the refrigerator and use at once. Never stuff a turkey before freezing it.

When cooking the turkey, an oven temperature of 325 F-350 F is best. Higher temperatures may toughen the proteins and cause shrinkage. Temperatures lower than 300 F are not recommended.

Cook the turkey completely without interrupting the roasting time. After cooking keep the turkey hot above 355 F or refrigerate below 40 F. Do not leave at room temperature longer than two hours. This allows spoilage bacteria to multiply at a very rapid rate.

We have a publication available titled Turkey For Today, call us at 542 5380 for your copy. It has a lot of ideas about using turkey parts and turkey leftovers.

Happy roasting! And have a safe Christmas!

Can be source of danger

Fireplace safety tips...

Now that winter is here many people are content to stay indoors and warm up in front of a fireplace. However, a fireplace can be a source of danger unless people take the proper safety precautions.

A fireplace screen is more than just a decoration. Keep it closed to prevent hot embers and ashes from falling out.

Fortifying the fire started can sometimes be difficult, but don't let it burn between the logs to ignite the fire. The vapours from these liquids could explode and cause serious fire. If you have glass doors for your fireplace, be sure the manufacturer's instructions are followed.

The logs should be placed in the fireplace as well as being sure the logs are not too close together to burn.

Children can be attracted to the fire and may try to touch it. Always make sure the children are not within reach of the fire. The fireplace should be kept clean and free of any debris that could catch fire. Do not use flammable liquids to start the fire.

It is also important to check the chimney regularly to make sure it is clear of any blockages. If you have a gas fireplace, make sure the gas is properly vented. Always use proper fire safety techniques to avoid any accidents.

ed to handle the higher level of heat these logs produce.

Discarded Christmas wrappings, held in the garbages and in the fireplace. This goes for the Christmas tree as well. Burning of large amounts of paper causes a serious fire, building up in the chimney, which can cause an excessive deposit of the chimney a sign.

Be sure to use the proper materials to start the fire.

Access Network

Motorweek series will aid new car owners

Car enthusiasts can now receive information about automotive issues by watching Access Network and joining the Alberta Motor Association's consumer education program.

Every Sunday at 8 p.m. Access Network will broadcast from the AMA's premises a series of programs about Motorweek.

The programs will be presented by the AMA's consumer education program. The series will provide information on about new cars, automotive events throughout the world and the latest news for the average car owner. It will also feature a Car of the Week competition.

fireplace. Gift wrapping Christmas trees and ornaments can be a fire hazard. Please do not use the fireplace.

And, finally, when the fire is out, dispose of the ashes properly. Put them in a metal container with a lid on the house.

Following these safety guidelines can all but assure fireplace safety. A fire is a serious danger, but it can be avoided.

deal with service stations and handle other car owner ship concerns. The series will also provide information on about new cars, automotive events throughout the world and the latest news for the average car owner. It will also feature a Car of the Week competition.

Families come together to express love for one another

By Rev. Martin Carroll
St. Anthony Parish

This week is very special for Christians all over the world.

On Friday we celebrate the birthday of Jesus Christ. Chapters I and II of the gospels of Matthew and Luke tell us about the birth of Jesus.

In Bethlehem people made use of caves by building a lean-to in front of the cave for the family home and they housed their livestock inside the cave. Bethlehem was full of people because of the census. Perhaps because the census was already in progress and at least did not offend privacy, Joseph brought Mary inside the cave where the livestock ordinarily rested.

Local RCMP attends workshop

Dr. M. P. T. M. Vatamanluck has received from a supervisor's workshop in Edmonton.

Vatamanluck said the course was designed to help supervisors change a report to different things. But Jesus, who was born in these humble surroundings, is the Son of God.

He is the one about whom the prophets spoke and the people were waiting for. The Prophet Isaiah Chapter 6 verse 56 tells us: "For there is a child here for us, a son given to us and dominion is laid on His shoulders, and thus in the name they give Him: Wonder Counselor or Mighty God, Eternal Father, Prince of Peace."

These titles were given to the King on His arrival on to the throne. He was to possess to a supreme degree the great qualities of noble, great figures of his race, the wisdom of Solomon, the valor of David, the virtues of Moses.

and the Patriarchs. Christ was new Jesus as the perfect fulfillment of this scripture message which is part of many Christmas very real.

The feast of Christmas reminds us of God's great love for us. In the person of Jesus He became man for us and began a journey which would lead Him to Calvary. The One who is all powerful and everlasting took upon Himself our human nature. God now tells us He loves us. He clearly shows His love in the person of Jesus Christ.

At Christmas members of families come together to celebrate and express their love for one another. May this Christmas be an experience of love and joy for the people of Dayton Valley, and as we experience this in our lives let us share that with others.

As we celebrate the birth of Jesus, the Prince of Peace, we can pray for the success of meetings between President Reagan and Mr. Khrushchev. Let us hope that they will have an important part in reducing tension in the world.

On behalf of the Minister's Association, we wish a peace and joy at this blessed time.

CRC grants

Meetings tentatively set for January

The County of Parkland Parks and Recreation department is expected to meet in the new year to discuss grant applications.

Dr. Haykowsky, staff coordinator says 11 applications were received from this area for CRC money. Meetings to discuss the grant applications are tentatively set for January with a decision in late February.

The county will have a proximate $300,000 in community recreation and cultural funds to hand out. Some of the groups submitting applications from the west end of the county include Drayton Valley gym nastics, Lodgepole, the Easyflow Community Arts Association, the landscaping and equipment for their new hall, Tomahawk and District Sports Area Association, HW Pickup school Eldorado school public address system, Rocky Rapids skating rink, Herkley Bowls Club, operations, Lundrington Valley curling club and the municipal library computer system.
